Brigham Young University —

This is where we have chosen to spend our time. What we learn here determines a great amount of our future; our successes and our failures. The buildings and campus of the "Y" are dedicated for us, as students while we spend our time here. Without us there would be no use for these buildings, but without the learning that we receive from within them, we could not find our full potentials. We become a reflection of what we do with our time and so we have a great responsibility to fill each moment with those activities that will enhance our lives. Our time for this year at BYU is nearly over. Can we look back on the past with satisfaction?

BYU Dedicates a Symbol of Expanding Knowledge: The J. Reuben Clark Law School

"I'm grateful for the Law School at BYU," says Art Heikkila, a pre-law student from Phoenix. "It affords us the opportunity to learn the law in a spiritual way." September 5, 1975, was the day Chief Justice William Warren Burger, President Spencer W. Kimball, President Dallin Oaks and other dignitaries gathered to dedicate the J. Reuben Clark Law School to the service of the Lord, and to ask His blessing on it. After two years of construction, it now stands in the east end of campus, a challenge and a haven for the approximately 400 law students now attending. Designed by Henry Fetzer of Fetzer and Fetzer Architects of Salt Lake City, it features many useful classrooms, along with a library, recreation room, lecture chapel and moot court. The building is beautiful, but as third year law student Lynn Davis says, "Its uniqueness does not lie so much in the impressive facilities as in the more subtle things, like an approachable faculty."

For some, financing a Friday night of fun posed a problem, but for the standing-room-only crowds at the ELWC Memorial Lounge, entertainment was live, lively, and free. Concerts Impromptu, featuring local talent from ropewirlers to rock singers, proved to be a BYU hit for another year.

On September 13, almost 3,000 students participated in an early morning rally to socialize, exercise, and paint the Y. Dancing, Diving, Flowers and Fantasy: The Chinese Acrobats of Taiwan

'Acrobat' usually means a gymnast in sequined leotards winging from the ceiling of the Big Top. But on November 21, in the Marriott Center, the Chinese Acrobats of Taiwan presented an evening of feats ranging from a girl performing on a ladder (seventeen feet long) balanced on a man's shoulders, to precision tumbling through hoops lined with sharp knives. President Dallin Oaks made a special presentation to the performers, who have enjoyed enthusiastic audiences at BYU in preceding years.

"We decided to have a circus carnival for the clubs to provide funds so they can function through the coming year," says John Plocher, BYU Organizations VP. Called "Century Festival," it featured rides, booths and activities in the traditional carnival format. Culture units, service units, international clubs and special interest groups were represented in the Law School south parking lot Sept. 19-20. Among these were The Alpha Phi Omega jail, and the Arizona Club, which sold western food. Altogether, 35 organizations were represented.

"The Clarion bells In mounting swells Lift us above our round Of daily life," so goes the Carillon theme song, composed by Edward L. Hart for its dedication on Founders Day, Friday, October 10, 1975. The morning featured processionals by College representatives and a special Founders Day march. A convocation and ringing of the bells followed.
The tower was designed by Fred L.
Markham, and the carillonneur is John T. Longhurst. The BYU tower is the only one of its kind between Denver and the West coast. However, it is not the statistics that impress BYU students; "I just like to hear it coming across campus," says Larry Richins.

"... having completed its first one hundred years as a higher institution dedicated to love of God, pursuit of truth, and service to mankind . . . (BYU) does invite all friends to mark the century . . . and to dedicate a Centennial Carillon as a monument linking the past with the future."

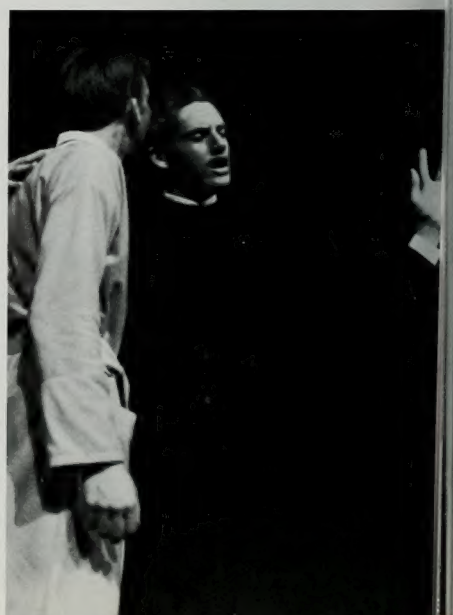

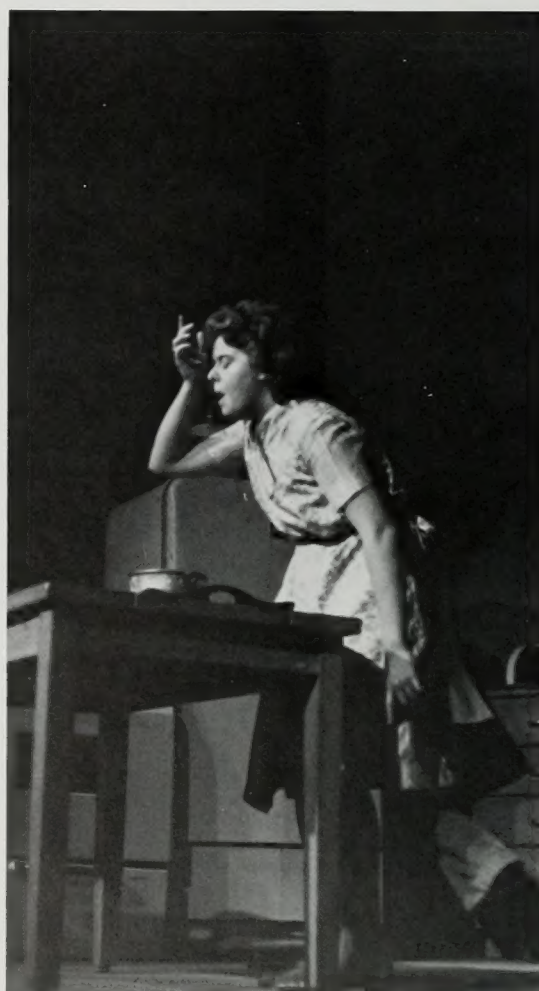

A successful summer drama presentation was repeated 12 times through September as the Pardoe Theater hosted "Poor Howard" by Brenda Sinclair. The comedy had to do with a group of theatrical ghosts, and starred John S. Huntington, J. Howard Stoddard, Mikel A. Oyala, Joseph Batzel I, and Lora Lark Phillips. Directed by Ivan Crosland, it, along with "Right Honorable Saint" was BYU's entry in the American College Theatre Festival. 4,074 people saw the performances. "I just thought it was a good play," says student Don Wharton.

Poor Howard

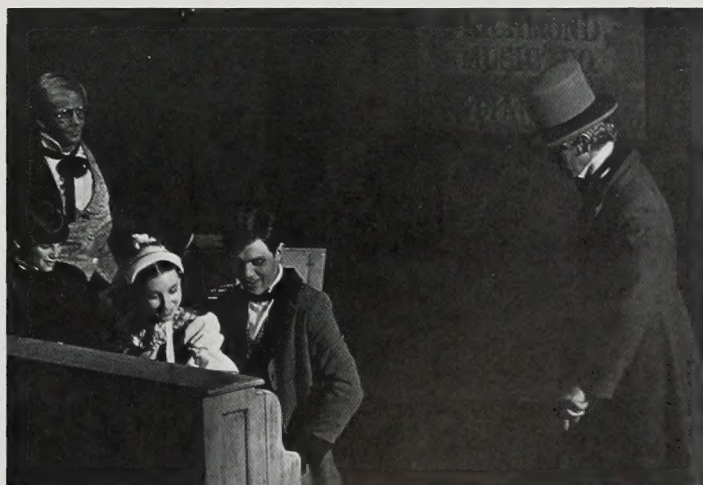

"From all accounts, Karl G. Maeser was a superb educator with a charismatic personality. Yet during his lifetime he had to constantly defend his calling against the Lot Crims (an invented name) who did not share Karl's vision of the educated Saint." So reads the Playwright's Notes on the program of "Right Honorable Saint," presented 14 times in the Pardoe Drama Theatre during October, and in the Promised Valley Playhouse in SLC. Written by Keith Engar with music by Walter Cundick, it presented in music, comedy and drama the story of BYU'S "Founding Father," Karl G. Maeser. Chip Boynton and Cindy Call were cast as Brother and Sister Maeser, and Lyn Noe as the antagonist Lot Crim. Direction was by Charles Whitman; musical direction, Lawrence Sardoni.

Right Honorable Saint

The traditional Saturday morning in the life of a serious college student is spent huddled in a library carrel, engrossed in working equations or analyzing a theme. But on October 11, BYU students took time out to participate in the annual Homecoming Parade. Around 30,000 spectators lined Provo's main streets to applaud the floats, bands, clowns and color; reigning was the Belle of the Y, Colleen Peppers. "I've been here a couple years," says student Peter Feuz, "and it's the best parade I've seen yet."

What do the 1937 Homecoming Queen, Johnny Whitaker, and the Lamanite Generation have in common? They were all a part of the Program Bureau's annual variety musical show, "Frolics." Around 23,000 people saw the production, which ran on the nights of October 10-11. This year it was a special centennial show, featuring past Homecoming Queens and Student Body Presidents. Dancing was an important part of the festivities, and choreography was handled excellently by student Cathy Bown. Janie Thompson, long associated with the Program Bureau, pulled it all together as the director.

"Matters will eventually work out all right, for this is the School of Destiny." Karl G. Maeser, "founding father" of BYU, has been commemorated by many activities this centennial year. On April 17, 1975, a box sealed in stone for 66 years was removed from the cornerstone of the Maeser building. It was sealed on October 16, 1909, and contained memorabilia including scripture, diplomas, stamps, magazines, newspapers, and a blue and white BYU pennant. They are displayed in a glass case in the Marriott Center, to remind students of their rich BYU heritage.

Ladies and Gentlemen . . . Seals and Crofts

Frisbees sailed across the open expanse of the Marriott Center as the crowd of 11,003 sat hushed, waiting for the band to begin. On October 18, 1975, Seals and Crofts entertained an enthused audience with their blend of soft rock, country and jazz, playing hits like "Summer Breeze," "Hummingbird," and "Diamond Girl," then swinging into a jazz rendition of "Wisdom." "I'll play for you," they sang, "Let the music take you — hear the band." The crowd heard, listened, and loved; a standing ovation was given at the conclusion of the concert, after a footstomping bluegrass tune.

Preference '76: No Hassle but a Lot of "Hustle"

Keystone Kops squirt water on unsuspecting dancing victims, while others munch bagels and cream cheese from 'street' vendors. Across campus, couples swirl romantically against a "Gone With the Wind" motif. On the nights of February 20 and 21, over 3200 couples attended the not-so-traditional girl's preference dances, which this year boasted the largest participation ever. A bicentennial theme featured several 20-year eras for backgrounds, ranging from Revolutionary War times to the Sixties and Seventies.

"Man is born to be jolly forever and ever," grins the aging playboy Falstaff, and this philosophy is embodied in the opera of the same name by Giuseppe Verdi. The plot concerns an enthusiastic "overripe peach" of a man whose exploits are thwarted by the wily females he'd hoped to woo. It's all in good natured fun, communicated through light hearted orchestration and singing. Playing Falstaff was Roy Samuelson; artistic direction was by Clayne Robinson and musical direction by David Dalton.

BYU Presents "Falstaff"

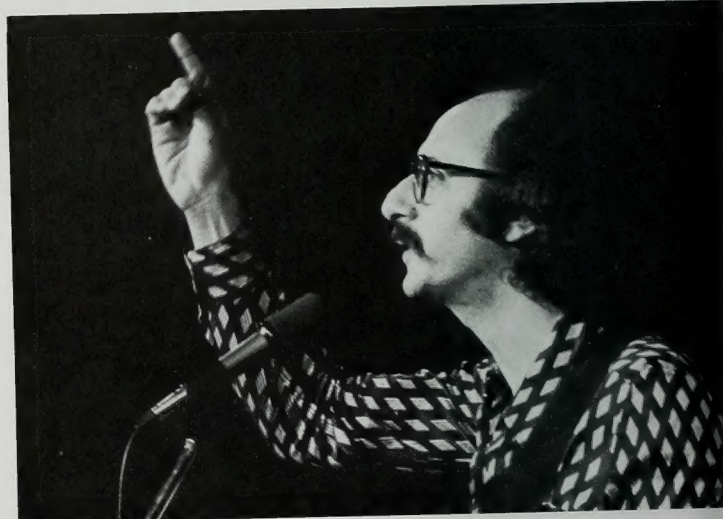

Peter Yarrow, formerly of Peter, Paul, and Mary, gave two well-received concerts in the Fall Semester of 1975. The first was as a lead-on for Mac Davis on September 11, and the second was as the headliner on December 5. A warm feeling pervaded the audiences as he encouraged singing and clapping to such songs as "Wedding Song" and "Where Have All the Flowers Gone?" Many performers who go solo after being in a major group fade into anonymity, but at BYU at least, Peter Yarrow is coming into a new popularity.

... and Igor Oistrakh, Phyllis Curtin

The deJong Concert Hall was the scene of two quality classical performances in November 1975; soprano Phyllis Curtin on the 12th, and violinist Igor Oistrakh, on the 20th. Miss Curtin, accompanied by Ryan Edwards, sang a total of 20 poems set to music by such composers as Aaron Copeland . . . Hailing from Odessa, USSR, Igor Oistrakh is "widely recognized as one of the pre-eminent violinists of our time." In his BYU concert, he enchanted music enthusiasts with a talent that has gained international acclaim. However, not all students were aware of his merits. "I thought Igor Oistrakh was a Russian Dish," commented Art Heikkila.

Bringing a Treat to BYU: Ballet West's "Nutcracker"

Grace and motion, color, fantasy and music: these were the facets of Ballet West's January 6 and 8 performances of The Nutcracker. Willam Christiansen's artistic production, music by Tchaikovsky (performed by Maurice Abravanel and the Utah Symphony), and 150 performers combined to make this holiday tradition a well-accepted treat to capacity audiences. It starred Karen Vendell, Pamela Leighan, Vivian Cockburn and Suzanne Erlon.

Musical Interpretation: "A to Z"

"A large work is built up by means of variation, transformation, and development techniques . . ." so reads the program notes of the January 27 performance of pianist Claudio Arrau in the DeJong Concert Hall. He, along with bassoonist George Zukerman, and the Nutcracker, comprised January Lyceum series offerings. Zukerman appeared January 15. Although both featured "traditional" classical music, neither was 'dry'; the soul of the musician was expressed. "Mr. Arrau," adds the program notes, "thinks of the sonata as a great poem."

Royal Hunt of the Sun

A colorful drama depicting Pizarro's conquest of the Incan empire was presented by the BYU Drama Department on November 20, 22, 25-26, and December 2-5, 9, 13, in the form of Royal Hunt of the Sun, in the Pardoe Drama theater. Direction was by Harold Hansen, and artful sets were designed by Charles Henson. Unusual costuming was done by Beverly Warner.

Mellow Sounds in a Classical Setting: Bartok String Quartet, New York Chamber Soloists

The melodic, mellow strains of a tenor oboe, violin, viola, cello, piano, and harpsichord wafted through the Madsen Recital Hall on the night of February 3. The New York Chamber Soloists presented a thoroughly pleasant evening of Handel, Mozart, Beethoven, and Shermann. They also featured a modern suite by Ralph Williams which included "Infant Joy" and "Cruelty Has a Human Heart."

"The String quartets of Bela Bartok" may not ring a familiar bell to most students, but on the nights of February 17 and 18, six different quartets (three each night), enraptured a Lyceum series audience at the DeJong Concert Hall. The four string artists played 23 movements in their unhurried, relaxed style.

Reflections on the Celebration

A number of us are graduating this year — some by degrees, others outright, by retirement. All we really take with us are memories. In addition to the academics we hope not to forget and the mishaps we hope we can forget, are those happenings which occur once in a lifetime. A birthday party which lasts all year could be one of those memories to keep. As director of our BYU Centennial, I could see the many special events of this year knowing why they were happening and who made them go. Here are a few observations for this yearbook that may illuminate a few dark corners.

We started with the groundbreaking for the Centennial Carillon Tower. Why did we all wear period costumes? The credit goes to Bruce Olsen of University Relations who thought it would be newsworthy and add color. It did both. And those students who wrote letters to the editor thinking we had lost our dignity if not our minds should be reassured that our only regret is that everyone present could not be in period dress. It was more fun than shoveling dirt.

At the opening of the cornerstone box at the Maeser Building, why were we not snowed and rained out? The day before it had been raining buckets full and immediately after, the clouds closed in and winter resumed. For two hours we had sunshine. I shall always remember the prayers of that day. They went like this: "Dear Lord, we have done all we can to open this Centennial year with good feeling and a warm spirit of friendship. If you agree, help us with good weather." He blessed us — not only on that critical day, but at Homecoming for the parade and game. One day later the skies wept, hopefully for joy, but water ran everywhere. The Centennial flags, flying in triumph over the stadium on Saturday, would have been a sodder mess on Sunday. Much of the unheralded assistance during this year is found in powers beyond any committee trying to run a celebration.

When we announced that a carillon with real cast bells was to be built, a well-meaning secretary on campus wrote in her crisp punctuated style, "Oh, no, not more noise! The present bells are driving me crazy." After the dedication she called, thanking us for such a beautiful structure. "But," she said, "couldn't the bells be made to sound a little louder?"

And the controversy over bumper stickers brought up headlines across the nation. The UPI screamed: "A Great University, But What's the Name?" At the Centennial Center, we thought the poster with stars and searchlights had a lot of sparkle, but on a bumper to be read at a distance, far from BYU, "What's the name?" Incidentally, the official bumper stickers were liked by someone. We ran 50,000 and by the end of the year they were all gone.

Our "Lollipop Lane" or as more personally indicated, "Lorin's Lollipops" have given vent to many a pent-up frustration. Thanks to their civility our students made no desecrations. In fact, while some thought them "tacky" others found them "inspirational." Actually they were designed to fill the gap of flags and banners that were originally scheduled to be used but failed the test of weather. Unknown to the student body, we hung banners from light poles and specially welded flagpoles only to have a passing gust of wind spin them around or collapse the pole. Can you imagine an array of such poles surrounding the quad after a windstorm, bent over, in abject obeisance. That would have been a story to hit the headlines: "BYU Centennial falls flat on its face!" So, we invented the blue and white placards, and all through the winter storms they stood their ground and carried with honor the names of our Centennial celebrities. As we close the year, it is worth noticing that some of the families whose progenitors have been so honored want to gain possession of these Centennial monuments for their own implantation. Moral: whatever you do, expect to be damned and thanked. Or, stated another way, "To avoid criticism, say nothing, do nothing, be nothing."

As a personal note from the outgoing director of a Centennial which will never be repeated, I want to thank those thousands of students who rallied to march in the parades, who flooded the convocations, who bought tickets to BRIGHAM! and our other productions, and who helped produce and patronize our plays, concerts, exhibits, publications, symposia, lectures, and socials. If you have had your hearts stirred, or even your adrenalin, be glad. Fifty years from now, when you come back to campus to witness the opening of the cornerstone of the Lee Library wing, you can point with pride and say to your great grandchildren, "I was there — I heard the bells ring, I marched in the parades, I sang the songs, I spoke up, I listened, and I cheered BYU into its second century."

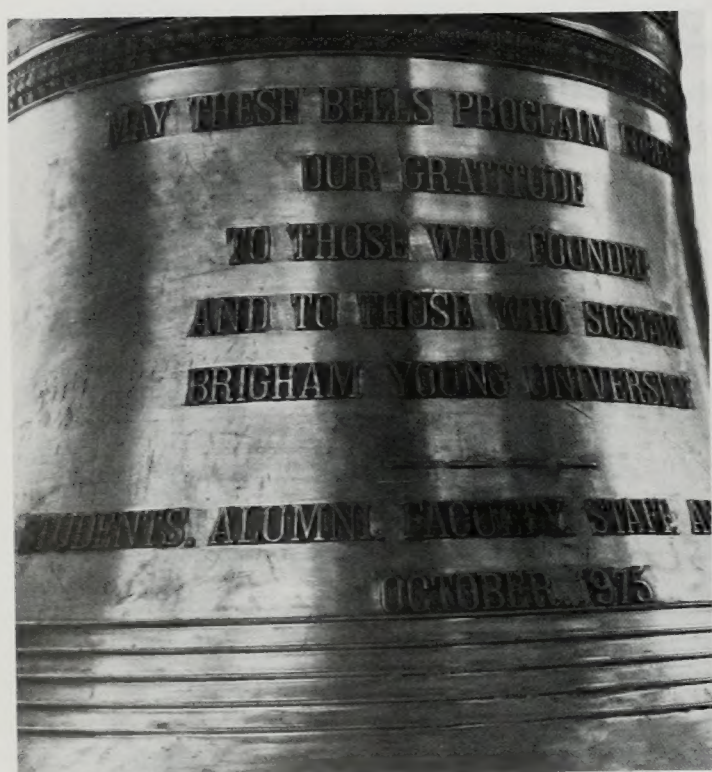

To share this year and help in some measure to leave a few footprints on our sands of time has been a last hurrah for this ex-dean, musician, businessman, and Centennial entrepreneur. Come around in 50 years — my ghost will be here to haunt you.

asbyu student government provides:

Student Government is an important cog in the university machine that invariably touches the life of every student enrolled at the Y. As we enter into our second century the aspirations of student government must reflect the goals of the university, the Church Education System, and the Church itself. It must serve the student by contributing to his spiritual, intellectual, emotional, and social growth in whatever way possible. The programs implemented by ASBYU government are designed to give each student a creative outlet, an arena for growth, and a chance for involvement. In essence, student government has something for everyone.

The Social Office Is:

OUR GANG

Bud Hydeman — Chairman (above)

Our Gang is the "unclub" on campus. Planning activities on a "no-date" basis, Our Gang activities this year have included: all night bowling, roller skating parties, ski parties, as well as pre-dance and pre-game parties for students who signed up ahead of time.

VIDEO TAPE

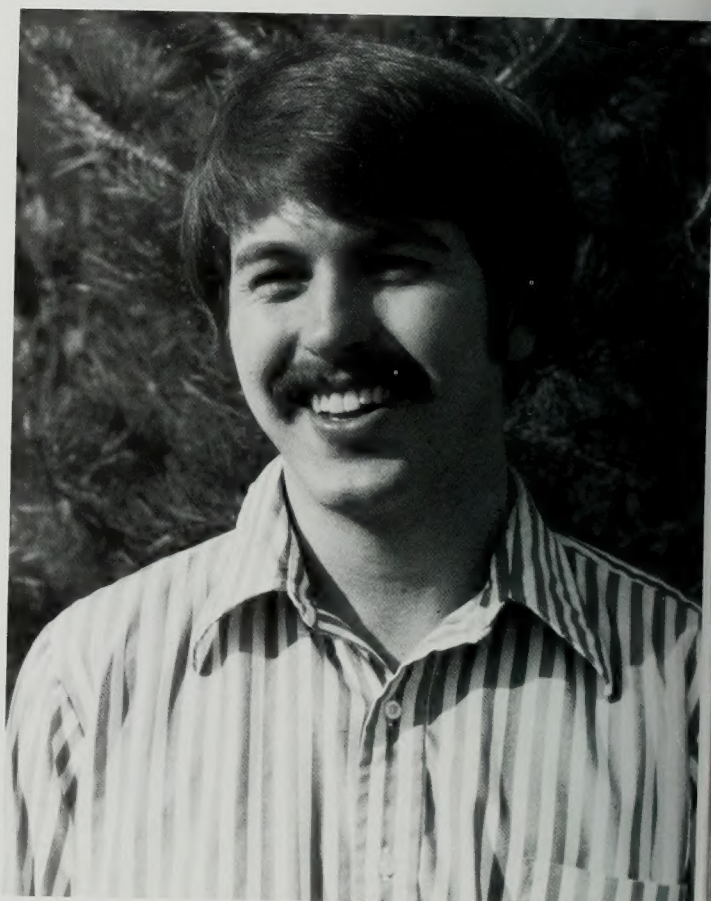

Ed Styers — Chairman (right)

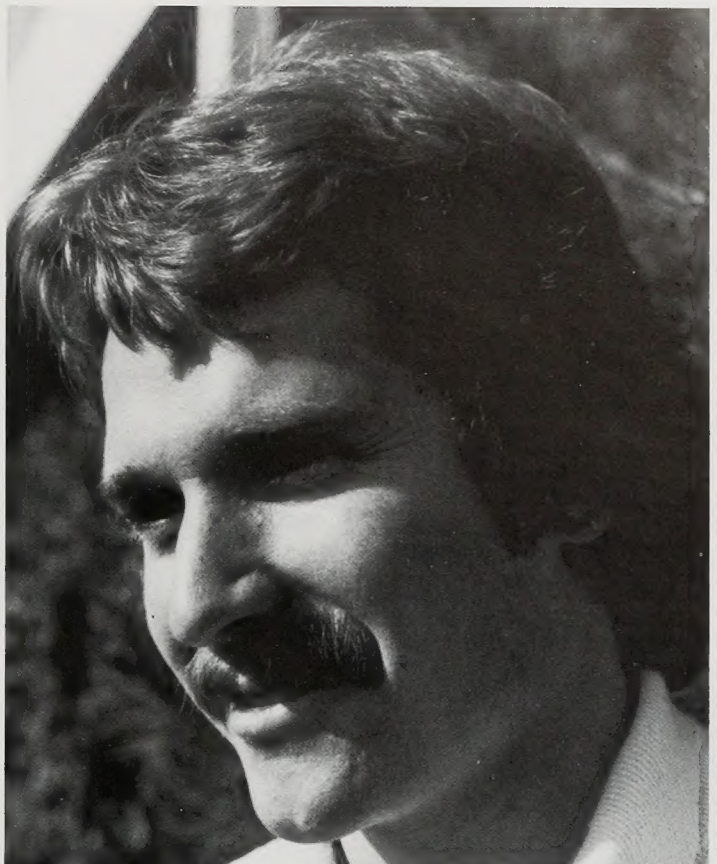

Video Tape was a brand new program on campus this year and has met with tremendous response. The program is run on a subscription basis, allowing us to choose the tapes we want. Video Tapes this year have included Jim Croce, Seals and Crofts, Super Skiers, Stevie Wonder and others.

The Social Office tries to plan dances on every available weekend throughout the semester. This year's dances have involved an average of 750 students at each dance. Contemporary, conventional, and soft-rock dances have been provided.

PUBLIC RELATIONS

The Social Office's existence is dependent on student support and, consequently, student wants and needs. Ken and Ron have spent the year keeping the flow of communication going between the Social Office and the students. Slide shows, news releases, polling committees, etc., have helped keep students informed.

MAJOR CONCERTS

Dan Morgan — Social Office Vice President

A large portion of the Social V.P.'s time is spent in planning and arranging for concerts. This year the Social Office presented Mac Davis, Seals and Crofts, and Neil Diamond. Pillow concerts have included: Hues Corporation, Peter Yarrow, and Natty Bumpo.

Deseret Towers Council Officers

"Come Join the Gang" has been the slogan for this past year as DTC (Deseret Towers Council) was involved in planning the activities for the students at "The Towers." One new idea that the DTC brought back was the Mid-week Break. This happened on every Wednesday evening where live entertainment was provided with a Snack Bar Special. This was one way the DTC tried to include every student in student planning of activities.

As a council we feel proud to be a part of all the students at Deseret Towers. We thank you for giving us this opportunity.

SITTING: Rod Dutson, President DTC, Danial Smart, Vice President DTC. SQUATTING: Richard Evans, Larry McColm. Auno means "love," bundled up in the enthusiasm of 41 girls who serve as hostesses for the BYU Athletic Department. Throughout the year the club's activities include greeting athletic teams from other schools, sending off BYU's teams, exchanges with other men's clubs on campus, firesides, service projects, and recruiting parties. The club also serves as special hostesses for the "Cougar Classic" Golf Tournament during the spring.

International Students Association

Our goal is to assist Brigham Young University in achieving its prophetic destiny to become "the most proficient institution of higher learning in the world." This proficiency can be attained by the implementation of programs designed to prepare the international students at BYU to succeed in their chosen professions in their home countries. Indeed, the day the LDS Church becomes fully international in practice it will better pronounce its universal message to the differing peoples of the world.

We strive to enhance the spirit of national pride, foster the growth of patriotism, and strengthen the bonds of international friendship in the hearts and minds of all students at this university.

Accomplishments this year include greater involvement of international students in our advanced programs, increased development of an international curriculum to meet individual needs, and a successful International Week emphasizing the world-wide thrust of BYU.

Phi Eta Sigma is a national collegiate honor society for freshmen. As a member of the Association of College Honor Societies, it was founded at the University of Illinois March 22, 1923. Its goal is to encourage and reward high scholastic attainment among freshmen in institutions of higher learning.

The chapter here at Brigham Young University is one of the 180 chapters in colleges and universities throughout the United States. The requirements for candidacy are a 3.5 GPA in the first semester or a 3.5 accumulative GPA in the freshman year, and compliance with university standards.

To all those at Brigham Young University and all colleges and universities throughout the United States who seek diligently after knowledge, wisdom, and truth, we of Phi Eta Sigma offer our congratulations and acknowledgement of achievement.

You cannot Stay on the Summit Forever;
You have to come down again . . .
So why bother in the first place? Just this:

What is above knows what is below, but what is below does not know what is above.

One climbs, one sees. One descends one sees no longer but one has seen. There is an art of conducting oneself in the lower regions by the memory of what one saw higher up.

When one can no longer see, one can at least still know.

'Rene Daumel.'

Footprints of Freedom

ROTC Photos

Six years ago, the BYU Departments of Music and Aerospace Studies cooperated to form an entertainment group that was unique in the nation. The media of song, dance and slide projections were combined in an effort to promote positive Americanism and appreciation for the sweat, the blood and sacrifice that went into making our country great. The performers were Air Force ROTC cadets and coeds from Angel Flight.

The group exists today as "Footprints of Freedom," named from Longfellow's poem "Psalm of Life," in which the lives of great men were being compared to "footprints on the sands of time." It is the only uniformed singing group of its type in the country.

In man, energy demands
release in motion.

"And there were faces —
beautiful, ugly, sad, glad.
And there were places —
smooth, rough, old, cold."

What did we do with
that image?
What direction were
we headed?
What road did we take?

This reflecting is what brought our becoming.

Now the emptiness of a no one, developed into a someone goes forth in a new life.
Go forth and serve well.
